

Autumn 2009: Overview of courses available to Forging-Identities fellows

Aarhus: Course in ArcGIS applications in weeks 44-45 organised by The Danish Ph.D. School in archaeology. Please contact Jytte Ringtved (farkjr@hum.au.dk).

Sandbjerg Castle, Als DK: October 21st-24th PhD course: Archaeological theory: the philosophical legacy and current challenges. Organiser: Prof. Bjørnar Olsen, Institute of Archeology, University of Tromsø. Guest lecturers: Julian Thomas, University of Manchester, Brit Solli, University of Oslo, and Ewa Domanska, University of Poznan. For possibilities to participate without a paper, please contact Jytte Ringtved (farkjr@hum.au.dk) and see <http://www.hum.au.dk/klasark/daf/index-eng.html>. 5 ECTS if you present a paper.

Deadline: November the 1st applications for ESF Conference in Japan, 'Empires and Contact Zones'. www.esf.org/conferences/10327.

Gothenburg: November 5th-7th seminar about the Stonehenge Riverside Project with lectures by Mike Parker Pearson, Julian Thomas, Josh Pollard, Colin Richards, Chris Tilley and Kate Welham. For further information please contact Helle vandkilde (farkhv@hum.au.dk) or Kristian Kristiansen (k.kristiansen@archaeology.gu.se)

Aarhus: November 24th to 26th, 2 days course in IT science-archaeological applications (1 ECTS) with Jens Andresen as teacher. Then follows a one-day course about being a Marie Curie fellow in the Forging Identities project (rights, demands and obligations), IPR (intellectual property rights), research dissemination, fundraising & project management, career plans, and similar practical issues; various teachers (½ ECTS).

Copenhagen, the National Museum: December the 4th, from 10 am to c. 19 pm the final seminar of the Danish Ph.D. School in Archaeology followed by dinner. New fellows will make short presentations of their projects and former, recently completed fellows of the School are invited to present their results.

2010 events:

Keep an eye on the announcement of the January FI-Meeting in Berlin, January 18th-22nd 2010

Kiel: Adjacent to the Berlin meeting, a 2 days course 25th and 26th of January takes place in the management of organic and inorganic data. ½ ECTS. Precise information to be announced on this site, also please contact Johannes Müller (johannes.mueller@ufg.uni-kiel.de).

Iceland: A course on colonisation from an archaeological point of view to take place in Iceland during 2010. Please contact Lise Hannestad klaslh@hum.au.dk.

Japan: European Science Foundation 27th February – 4th of March 2010. Conference for Young Scholars: Contact Zones of Empires in Asia and Europe. Complexity, Causality and Contingency